

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS:

SELECTION

Q: What percentage of applicants are funded?

A: Approximately 15% of submitted applications received an award for the 2017-2018 Academic Year Cobell Scholarship opportunities.

Q: How are applicants selected to receive a Cobell Scholarship Finalist offer?

A: After the deadline, the Scholarship Reviewers will evaluate and score each complete application for overall academic strength including academic rigor, references responses, and all other information that is available on the application. Reviewers will also assess language, grammar, and writing skills from the applicant's responses. Additional factors include selecting high achieving students who represent all tribal nations, at all levels of education, from a variety of institutions, academic pursuits, community engagement, and leadership.

Q: Who selects the Cobell Scholarship Finalists?

A: The Scholarship Reviewers include IEI staff and other higher education professionals who are trained to read scholarship applications.

Q: How does IEI decide how much the scholarship offer will be?

A: IEI makes offers based on the number of completed applications and amount of money available each year. Scholarship amounts vary based on degree level. The Scholarship amounts for the Academic Year 2018-2019 are up to $5000 for Undergraduates including Vocational students and up to $10,000 for Graduate and Professional students. After a review of the Financial Needs Analysis and Verification form (FNAV), provided by the institution, some Finalists may receive less than the original scholarship offer to stay within the annual cost-of-attendance and unmet need.

Note: Scholarship awards are divided and disbursed according to the number of terms at each institution.

Q: How will I be notified if I am selected as a Cobell Scholarship Finalist?

A: IEI does not send official Finalist letters. We post all decisions in the OASIS portal. We will also email the Finalists using the email provided for their application.

Please sign up using an email that you will check regularly, we will send all communications to your email address in the OASIS system.

Q: Why was I not selected as a Cobell Scholarship Finalist?

A: In no particular order, applicants may not be selected for one or more of the following reasons:

- Did not meet eligibility criteria

- Submitting a late or incomplete application,
- Attending a for-profit institution,
- Not academically competitive,
- Failure to complete and submit an application for the correct degree level,
- Failure to complete an available scholarship opportunity (only completed General Application Profile),

IEI does not send official denial letters; the applicant must keep track of their Cobell Scholarship updates in their OASIS portal. For further details regarding denials, you may contact IEI.

Q: If I am not selected for a scholarship opportunity, can I apply again?

A: Yes, you may reapply in the future as long as you meet the eligibility requirements.

Q: Is there a process for an appeal if I do not receive a Cobell scholarship opportunity offer?

A: There is no formal process for appeal. The Director of Scholarships will address all concerns, provide a list of all information, and if necessary, elevate the appeal request to the Executive Director; all decisions by the Executive Director are final. The IEI Board does not review appeals.

Q: Is there a waitlist?

A: IEI will maintain a waitlist and applicants may be offered a scholarship should funding become available. Applicants will be notified if they are placed on a waitlist. Status information will not be disclosed to applicants on the waitlist and there will not be a projected date for when IEI will notify those on the waitlist.
